A More Efficient Teaching Force.

The following article was intended for use at the county teachers' institute, held at Pine Level, but as it failed to reach Supt. Byrd in time for that purpose, it is published here at the request of Prof. Byrd, and because we think it will prove interesting and beneficial:

Chicago University, July 26.
Hon. C. H. Byrd, Co. Supt. Eds.
Enterprise, Ala.

Dear Sir and friend:—My home paper, The Elba Clipper, comes to me here, and as I learn that there is to be an institute next Friday and Saturday, and that among the interesting topics on the programme, "A more efficient teaching force" has been assigned to me. While I cannot be with you on this occasion I want you and the institute to know that I feel a live interest in the proceedings, and am snatching a few moments from my duties here to send greeting and best wishes.

That we should grow in efficiency without saying. Of course the state with public funds and the patrons with supplemental funds should constantly increase salaries so as to encourage the best talent to enter our profession, and to hold and develop what we already have. But whether this is done or not, the teachers of their own volition and from love of the work must add to their equipment in order to meet the constantly increasing demands upon their professional services. Just a thought or two as how best to accomplish this end:

1. Improvement and scholarship. Too many teachers regard a certificate, especially a first grade certificate, as the acme of scholarship, as a lofty mountain summit from which they proudly look down on the world; when in truth it is only a hill-top beyond which height on height arises, inviting us to continue climbing that we may gain a view of broadening horizons and fairer fields of knowledge.

If you would be a good teacher you must love books. If you have not this love of learning for its own sake, then cultivate it. Strive for general culture as well as for thorough knowledge of text books. Study higher mathematics in order to teach arithmetic; read the history of the world in order to interest your class in U. S. history; dwell in the flower garden of literature in order to give vital force to your instructions in grammar. This improvement in scholarship may come very largely from private study. But, better still you should plan to spend one or more vacations at some great institute of learning. Do not say, "I am too old to enter school again as a student." You never get too old. I see gray haired men and women here every day diligently perusing their studies, and actually delighting in it.

2. We can become more efficient by studying the child and the best methods of instruction. When we enrich our own minds our task is far from complete. The work of imparting this knowledge, or (speaking more accurately) the work of impressing the pupil to acquire this knowledge for himself, is not a task for bungler. There is no higher art or science. Surely if the blacksmith must study how to temper his iron, the sculptor to chisel his marble, the teacher must study how to deal with the most precious of materials—the child's immortal mind and heart. We should ask ourselves in every case such questions as these:

What does this particular child need?

"How can we best approach him in arousing his intellectual activity along right lines?"

"What peculiarities of temperament, of health, of duty, of habit, etc., has he?"

So the pupils themselves are an unending source of study for us. It is a very interesting study, having a thousand different phases and features. The finest lecture that I have heard this summer was on the subject of children's plays and games. Do we always recognize our full duty and our opportunity in this part of child life? This is only one of many questions that the efficient teacher should address to himself or herself.

There is no doubt in my mind many professional books have been written which are helpful to teachers in studying children and in perfecting themselves in methods of instruction. It is worse than idle to denounce these books as the productions of faddists and theorists, and refuse to profit by a study of them. Of course we find much in them that will not apply to our particular locality, but we also find much that does apply, and much that is suggestive. We ground ourselves, moreover, in the great principles of teaching. While we are reading these books we are living in an educational atmosphere and are growing in professional spirit. Teachers, both men and women, who read these books, who attend institutes and summer schools and read educational magazines, are likely to think and talk more about their schools, and less about dress, society and other distractions. So if you have no treatise on the principles of teaching, school government and kindred subjects, you could not spend five dollars more wisely than in ordering these books. They will not make a great teacher from a poor teacher, oh! no, but they will pay for themselves in helpful suggestions when carefully and critically studied.

3. The efficient teacher will not be content with doing routine work. There is a great field of usefulness outside these duties. Every school should have a library, however small it may be. Every school should have attractive grounds as well as comfortable buildings.

In all these things and in a dozen others like them the teacher must take the lead. No, not always; for sometimes we find patrons alive to their duties and full of enthusiasm and public spirit. But always there is still a call to the teacher. He or she must exercise much tact, patience and perseverance in quickening public spirit and making the school a centre of influence in the community life.

The typical teacher, an hundred years ago were book-worms. Not so to-day. They are men and women of affairs as well as book-worms. They are informed as to current events, fully abreast of the times, and in touch with the world around them. They should have positive but conservative opinions on all questions, feel a pride in the beauty and dignity of their work, and hold up their heads and look the whole world in the face.

Am I requiring too much of an efficient teaching force? No, though I am asking a great deal, I know. But let us remember how much depends on our work. The public schools are the hope of this country. In the north it is the public school, and only the public school, which is assimilating the vast mixed population, and transmitting the many different nationalities into Americans. In the South it is the public school which is hastening the

Miss Donaldson's Party.

Last Friday night Miss Bonnie Donaldson entertained a large crowd in honor of Miss Minnie King.

On entering punch was served, Misses Clara Moore Milford and Gertrude Donaldson officiated at the punch stand.

Those present were: Miss Claudene Rushing, Mr. Moll Boyd, Miss Pearl Hutchison, Mr. C. C. Brannen, Miss Zelma Rowe, Mr. Horace Donaldson, Miss Zedie Rowe, Mr. Howard Blue, Miss Glennie Kirkland, Mr. J. F. Rowe, Miss Annie Blue, Mr. Will Brannon, Miss Bonnie Ballard, Mr. M. O. Ross, Miss Olie Bonneau, Mr. J. O. Rowe, Miss Alice Boyd, Mr. J. O. English, Miss Martha Boyd, Mr. J. P. Blue, Miss Essie Rowe, Mr. Henry Ellis, Miss Bonnie Connor, Mr. W. T. Whitman.

The party consisted largely of games, after which refreshments were served, and "love making" progressed under the sound of sweet music.

A Guest.

No matter if your kidney trouble is acute or chronic Foley's Kidney Remedy will reach your case. Mr. Claude Brown, Reynolds-ville, Ill., writes us that he suffered many months with kidney complaint which baffled all treatment. At last he tried Foley's Kidney Remedy and a few large bottles effected a complete cure. He says, "It has been of inestimable value to me." City Drug Co.

About Good Roads.

Yesterday a delegate of citizens from East Coffee was before the commissioners' court to confer about good roads. Several plans were talked of, only one of which calls for immediate action. The plan that is expected to be acted upon is in the nature of demonstration work; the people of Enterprise and vicinity propose to build a stretch of road an experimental sort by private subscription; and they wish the county to pay the expenses of an engineer, whose services can be obtained free, and also wish the county to furnish the tools. It is very likely that this will be done by the court.

For Quick Relief from Hay Fever, Asthma and summer bronchitis take Foley's Honey and Tar. It quickly relieves the discomfort and suffering and the annoying symptoms disappear. It soothes and heals the inflamed air passages of the head, throat and bronchial tubes. It contains no opiates and no harmful drugs. Refuse substitutes. City Drug Co.

Coffee Singing Convention

Coffee County Singing Convention will convene with Alberton on the first Saturday and Sunday, August 6th and 7th, 1910.

Delegates are especially requested to meet early, as we would be glad to organize by 10 o'clock if they can all be present.

Respectfully,

L. F. Young, chairman

From Sickness To "Excellent Health". So says Mrs. Chas. Lyon, Peoria, Ill.; "I found in your Foley Kidney Pills a prompt and speedy cure of backache and kidney trouble which bothered me for many months. I am enjoying excellent health which I owe to Foley Kidney Pills. City Drug Co."

Coming of a brighter day; the public school which is training our grand old (Anglo Saxon) people for a new era of industrial and intellectual supremacy.

Mrs. Garrett Heads Civic Improvement Club.

The ladies of Civic Improvement Club met in regular session August 2nd at the home of Mrs. W. P. Boyd.

Mrs. J. M. Garrett was elected president for the next year; Miss Saphronia Brannen, recording secretary; Mrs. Young Rainer, treasurer; Mrs. K. A. B. Price, corresponding secretary.

An important feature of the meeting was the announcement of prizes which were offered by the club early in the spring for best kept and most improved lawns and flower gardens. The prizes are as follows:

Most improved and best kept front lawn $8.00 cash.

Most improved and best kept front flower garden $8.00

Second best front lawn or flower garden, $2.00

Third best front lawn or flower garden $1.00 cash.

Best kept back yard $3.00 cash.

Though these ladies have worked quietly in the past there are many outspoken, unconscious biographies of their efforts, giving shade from the summer sun wayfarers, in many parts of our town.

During the coming year the club hopes more residents will become interested in making Elba beautiful as well as healthful. One's awakening to a keener sense of the aesthetic is sufficient reward if their work is other.

"A thing of beauty is a joy forever. Its loveliness increases; it will never Pass into nothingness; but will keep A bower quiet for us, and sleep Full of sweet dreams, and health and quiet breathings." Cor. Sec.

They have a Definite Purpose.

Foley Kidney Pills give quick relief in cases of kidney and bladder ailments. Mrs. Rose Glaser Torre Haute, Ind., tells the result in her case "After suffering for many years from a serious case of kidney trouble and spending much money for so called cures, I found Foley Kidney Pills the only medicine that gave me a permanent cure. I am again able to be up and attend to my work. I shall never hesitate to recommend them."

Mule Strayed.

Strayed from my place between Elba and New Brockton, on Saturday night, last one iron gray mule, about six years old, weight about 900, marked on breast and hip with scars caused by barbed wire. Suitable reward will be paid for return of mule or information as to her whereabouts.

Bob Foresight.

Rev. Dallas P. Lee is at Daleville this week assisting Rev. P. L. Mosley in a protracted meeting at the Baptist church in that place. Mr. Lee has conducted a number of meetings in the towns of this section since he has been pastor of Elba Baptist Church, and his meetings have been uniformly successful. He is a splendid speaker, deeply in earnest about his work, and has the rare gift of imparting his earnestness to other arousing and holding the interest of his congregations.

BALLINGER BURDEN WEARIES THE G. O. P.

Secretary's Resignation Might Be Welcome.

MENACES PARTY HARMONY

Taft Will Not Denial the Secretary of the Interior, but it is Believed That He Would Like Very Much to See Ballinger Quit.

There is increasing evidence at Beverly, Mass., that the recent bombardment of the president with letters from republican leaders in all parts of the country, protesting that Secretary of the Interior Ballinger was proving an embarrassment in the laying of plans for the coming congressional campaign, is beginning to have effect. If not upon the president himself, at least upon the advisers who are closest to him.

No attempt is made to deny the reports that Senator Crane, at the very outset of his political pilgrimage in the west, had probably suggested to Secretary Ballinger at Minneapolis that his duty to the party might require that he sacrifice his place in the cabinet.

There is no doubt that the reports that Senator Crane, at the very outset of his political pilgrimage in the west, had probably suggested to Secretary Ballinger at Minneapolis that his duty to the party might require that he sacrifice his place in the cabinet.

Some of the census enumerators say that Alabama is filled with men from the north and west and that more are coming.

In a western city it has been decided by the council that every resident must take a bath once a week or go to jail. Next some reform town will require a given number of square inches in each piece of baby furniture.

We Guarantee Every Box of Dr. Bell's Antiseptic Salve to do what we claim. Try it for ulcers, boils, running sores, tetor, ringworm, eczema, salt rheum, finger sores, cuts, bruises, pimples, black heads, chaps, felons, burns or any skin disease. 25c a box.

Business prospects are certainly good in this part of the vineyard. Better conditions for future prosperity could not be asked for, and this year will see greater progress made in all lines of business in South Alabama than have ever been witnessed before. There is nothing that can prevent the good times coming, and a genuine boom will be on in earnest before the first frost.
This is not idle talk but is based on real facts that are beyond dispute.

Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey.

Is the best for coughs, colds, croup, grip, whooping cough, bronchitis, asthma and all throat and bronchial troubles. Sold everywhere look for the bell on

A Cold.

Is not necessarily serious, provided it is taken care of. It is frequently the starting point of many dangerous diseases. When it comes use Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey. Look for the bell on the bottle.

Of course any business man, any merchant has a perfect right to send out of town for his printing, just as any citizen has a perfect right to order his dry goods and groceries from the big mail order concerns, and both may save a few cents by doing so.
But is it good business? Will it pay? Can we expect to prosper by building up big city printing houses and mercantile establishments at the expense of local concerns?

These are questions that every man must decide for himself, and and "as a man soweth that shall he reap."

We spend time and money freely that our patrons may always be served with the best and purest drugs. City Drug Company.

Panama

FOR MALARIA
In places where Malaria is ever present in its worst form Panama meets with the greatest success. Try it even when all else fails.

Letters received from well known persons strongly endorse it:
"Y. H. Hinnett, 403 Main Street,

Mome Base Ball.

The Fresno ball team and fans came down from the fresh village over the hills and friscoed the local diamond with Elba's ball players Saturday. It was a fast and furious game from the flinging of the first ball until the last out was made. But there was a noticeable lack of enthusiasm among the spectators and heaven was not wrent with glad shouts often 'cause Elba was not wanting, and there were not enough of the Fresno population present to extend the heavens to any great extent continuously.

It was a good, clean game of ball, so we are told, and Fresno won because it had the best players. The Elba boys could not get out a full nine of the best players and had to fill the positions with such materials as was at hand. They will probably be better prepared when the next game comes round and then the story will end differently. Until then we will celebrate with Fresno, for Fresno certainly has a good lot of ball players, and they do play ball.

The score was 8 to 3 in favor of Fresno.
The Fresno team is made up as follows: S. Smith, p.; J. Butts, c.; S. Strickland, fb.; S. F. Butts, sb.; D. Strickland, rf.; W. S.
Devaney, cf.; C. A. Pittman, cf.; J. W. Simmons, lf.; E. M. Strickland, ss.

Mr. G. E. Barker, who farms near Victoria, sent The Clipper Saturday an apple from his orchard that shows what can be done with this fruit in Coffee county. The apple is eight inches around, of good flavor, and no doubt would find ready sale if they could be gotten to market.
While good apple land is selling for a thousand dollars an acre in the west it would not be a bad idea for some one to see what could be done on Coffee lands that can be bought for a small part of that sum.

EDWARD IS NO MORE

England's Monarch Succumbs
After Brief Illness.

PRINCE OF WALES SUCCESSOR
Eventful Life Ends in Peace and All England Mourns—The Cause of the King's Death Was Pneumonia, Following Bronchitis.

King Edward VII, who returned to England from a vacation ten days ago in the boat of health, died Friday night in the presence of his family, after an illness of less than a week, which was serious hardly more than three days.
The Prince of Wales succeeded to the crown immediately, according to the laws of the kingdom, without official ceremony. His first official act was to dispatch to the lord mayor the announcement of his father's death, in pursuance of custom.
Pneumonia Caused Death.
Pneumonia, following bronchitis, is believed to have been the cause of death, but the doctors thus far have refused to make a statement. Some of the king's friends are convinced that worry over the critical political situation which confronted him, with sleepless nights, aggravated it, it did not cause the fatal illness.

The intelligence that the end of King Edward's reign had come was not a surprise at last. The people had been expecting it any hour since the king's bulletin was posted at Buckingham palace and flashed throughout the kingdom. The capital received it without excitement but sadly for the king, with his own people, was unquestionably one of the most popular rulers in the world.
They regarded him as one of the strongest forces making for the stability of the peace of the empire.

His Last Utterance.
One of the last utterances attributed to King Edward was "Well, it is all over, but I think I have done my duty." He seemed then to have reached a full realization that his death was approaching.

The queen and others of the royal family and four doctors had been constantly in the sick room throughout the day. Several hours before his death, the king was in a compense condition, but he rallied slightly between 9 and 10 o'clock and appeared to recognize his family. Then he lapsed into unconsciousness, which ended in his passing.

Believe Cancer Caused Death.
In spite of all official denials, the belief that King Edward's death was brought by cancer will never be dislodged from the minds of the people.
The foundation for his fatal illness is traced to a talent in the royal family. The old throat affection of the king that caused the postponement of his coronation and many times caused alarm, is held directly responsible for the attack of pneumonia, which, it is given out, was the immediate cause of death.

New Ruler of England.
George V.
Born at Marlborough house, June 3, 1864.

Full name of Prince, George Frederick Ernest Albert, Prince of Wales, Duke of Cornwall, of York and of Rothesay, Count of Chester and Garrick and of Inverness, Baron of Renfrew and of Killarney.
Became crown prince through death of his elder brother, the Duke of Clarence, in 1892.
Married July 6, 1893, to Princess
May, of Teck.
Has six children: Prince Edward Albert, heir apparent, now sixteen years old; Prince Albert, fifteen; Princess Victoria Alexandra, thirteen; Prince Henry, ten; Prince George Edward, eight; Prince John Charles, five.

Known as good swimmer and out-rigger; spent fifteen years in active service.
Nickname: "The Sailor Prince."

Had Youthful Romance.
While King George, since he became Prince of Wales and the husband of Princess May of Teck, has been the ideal of the British father of a family, he had his youthful ro-manhood. He was once in love with a girl named Gladys, daughter of a baronet, and they were engaged to be married. But his father, the Duke of Edinburgh, disapproved of the match and the girl was married to another man.
